If, in order to provide the service, personal data concerning you must be transferred to a third country without a so-called adequacy decision (e.g. to the US) and possibly without appropriate safeguards, your consent includes these proposed transfers of data and data (Article 49(1)(a) GDPR). There is an inadequate level of data protection in the US (cf. ECJ, judgment of 16 July 2020 - C-311/18, Facebook Ireland and Schrems). In certain circumstances, the rights of the data subjects may not be effectively enforced there, data may be exposed to access by foreign authorities (authorities) without the data subject/person being informed, and legal remedies in courts and authorities abroad do not lead to success. More information can be found here: policies.google.com/privacy/frameworks.

Your consent is voluntary and can be withdrawn at any time. Among other things, you can click on the icon in the margin of the page to turn off the service and save your selection(s).

The legal basis is Article 6, paragraph 1, letter b) GDPR.

If your request for contact is not necessary for the performance of a contract with us or for pre-contractual measures, the legal basis for processing your data is Article 6, paragraph 1, letter "f" GDPR.
